

Donnerstag: 30.01.20 16:00 s.t.

Zentrum für Bioinformatik, Bundesstraße 43, Raum 16

Harnessing Computational Chemistry for Drug Discovery – an Industry Perspective

Computational chemistry has transformed most aspects of drug discovery. Beyond the application of the scientifically best and most appropriate methods, the constraints and virtues in an industry setting need to be embraced, to unleash the full potential of computational chemistry. The talk will outline BI's strategy to manage these challenges from a broader perspective, and via selected real case examples.

Dr. Andreas Bergner
Medicinal Chemistry
Computer-Aided Drug Design
Boehringer Ingelheim
Vienna, Austria

Everyone is welcome!